Lunch Seminars for Young Researchers (LSYR)

November–December 2024

Call for Papers

After the success of IOSEEDS AT UNIURB – LSYR, the University of Urbino Carlo Bo is glad to purpose the SEEDS AT UNIURB – LSYR – 2nd Edition, a new series of lunch seminars organised by the young researchers of the Department of Economics, Society, Politics (DESP) open to PhD students and post-doc researchers from all the Universities and Research Centres around the world.

The seminar series aims at stimulating an inter- and multidisciplinary discussion on micro and macro research on sustainability, climate change and other related crucial topics, such as natural disasters, health, finance, crime, A.I., behavioral economics, law, trade, pandemics, conflict, inequalities, labor and gender. At the same time, this opportunity provides young researchers with a chance to expand their network, get feedback on their research work and disseminate their ideas.

We are pleased to invite you to participate and present either an extended abstract (1,000–1,500 words) or a full paper at SEEDS AT UNIURB – LSYR, to be held in Urbino between November and December 2024.

Eight papers will be selected after a regular peer-review process. The seminars will be structured to be as informal as possible to encourage a broad debate.
